Subject: [STARS] - This concerns walMart requesting permission to open a bank for 'in-house' transactions. I just want it know that I am against this request. Once, walMart uses the 'in-house' bank to process credit cards, etc. I'm afraid they will request another step in which the can deposit employee payroll into their 'in-house' bank to 'make it easier for employees'. Historically, walMart is known 'if givn an inch they'll take a mile'. Should walMart be given the 'in-house' bank, they ask for 'in-house' deposit of employee payroll. Then, the local banks suffer. We CANNOT have walMart develop a monopoly on the rural or local economy. Thank you.
